Art Unit: 3729

In view of locating more material prior art the following non-final Office Action is provided. Inasmuch as Applicants' Reply under 37 CFR 1.111 is not pertinent to the hereinbelow given Office Action, filed on or about 13 November 2002, no comments are provided .

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 42, 48, 50, 54-58, 62 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Fjelstad (Pat No. 6,499,216 B1; hereinafter '216)

Claims 42, 48, 50, 54-58, 62 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by '216.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office Action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 42, 43, 48-50 and 54-68 are further rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the '216).

Art Unit: 3729

The '216 teaches a probe card for IC chip. The probe card provides an interconnection between pads on an wafer or a PcB. A plurality of leads extend from a substrate through an encapsulant layer overlying the substrate. Terminals project above the encapsulant layer. These tips engage an electronic element. The card can be made by providing the substrate, a sacrificial layer and leads extending between the sacrificial layer and substrate. The sacrificial layer is removed subsequent to bonding ends which are at a distance from the sacrificial layer to a substrate. To the extent that the '216 fails to teach "spring contact elements" which is believed that it does since the leads taught by the '216 clearly would have spring-like characteristics, it is held that Claim 42 would have been obvious in view of the '216 at the time the instant application was filed. As applied to Claim 43, 49 is mere design choice to provide that the electronic component is a apace transformer inasmuch as there is a lack of criticality with respect to this recitation. .Moreover Applicants fails to describe a specific purpose or fails to solve a specific problem therewith

Inasmuch as new prior art is now being applied a response to Applicants' arguments would be irrelevant and therefore is not provided herein.

This Office Action is non-Final.
